

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In the present invention, an information distribution terminal adds an ID of the terminal and ID of a user of the terminal to transmission information to relay and distribute in relying and distributing the transmission information including an electronic coupon, and an information compiling server that finally receives the transmission information refers to IDs of terminals or users of the terminals added successively due to relay, and provides benefits to the users corresponding to the IDs.